Everyone has different feelings at different times; sometimes things are good, and sometimes they are bad. While you may want to express yourself to others, its not always easy to tell people how you are feeling with words. Sometimes I Feel Blue explores some of the ways you can express your feelings that dont use words. You can draw or paint, using colors and showing how you feel with paints or crayons or pencils. There are so many things you can do to share what you are feeling and so many ways to express yourself. In this illustrated childrens guide, a little girl who likes to color her feelings explores how children can express themselves to others through a variety of activities.
